

Arden Lowry, Rideau District High School student, whose winning research centred on Crosby area WW1 soldier Wesley Pyne, will be travelling to France and Belgium with a group of 14 UCDSB students who have been selected because of their research of local WW1 soldiers who died during that conflict. She has also just completed research on another local soldier, Charles Bryden.

Arden and Kim Proud, who has for many years provided the EAHS with much background material on the Elgin Platoon of the 156th Leeds-Grenville Battalion, share information during their visit to the RBS.

EAHS will invite Arden to the Remembrance Day Service at Heritage Park and will reach out to her, upon her return, in the hope that she will share her experiences at a later date.

It is inspirational to witness youth interested in such pivotal events of history and we congratulate Arden for her interest and research/creative skills.
